MINISTRY & LIFE PERSPECTIVES

“Speak, Lord, your servant is listening.”

A young apprentice named Samuel spoke these iconic words as a teen. His openness to listen to God eventually led him to become one of the great prophets who would anoint David the King of Israel. David himself was a young man, an obscure shepherd. Both these youth – like Mary – had no expectation that God was about to call them to some remarkable task, but each found their lives changed ever after.

“Speak, Lord, your servant is listening.” Samuel’s words, the rule for prayer in every age, were not his own; he learned this invitation from Eli (1 Sm 3:7-11). So too, the gift of prayer is handed on from generation to generation. What God will say and do in each life is not in our hands, but helping others to listen to the Lord’s voice is a sacred trust.

Observing the Lord’s Ascension helps us appreciate how listening to Christ’s voice remains essential. Jesus promises the Spirit, reminding us of all He taught and leading us to all truth. Jesus has not left us on our own to know the Way, and the Spirit allows us in many times and places to hear that Voice of the Good Shepherd that only a small number could access 20 centuries ago.

I want to say thank you on behalf of all of us for the work of the One In Christ Area Catholic Community Planning Council and the groups that have formed around each of the initial four goals of this ACC: worship schedules; evangelization; stewardship; and the broad area of youth and young adult ministry. Like so many in our ACC and across the diocese, I have sat through dozens of meetings this past year. From the outside, perhaps progress seems slow, the vision obscure. We are not all of like mind. Priorities and proposals differ. Personalities emerge that do not always seamlessly merge. Spiritualities and treasured convictions – each of them part of the rich Body of Christ – are not uniform.

This is of course what we would expect, and it is really no different than the first group of disciples around Jesus. Imagine Simon the Zealot, whose goal was to overthrow the Roman occupation, sitting next to Matthew the tax collector, a living symbol of that Roman power, both chosen by Jesus to be formed and reformed into His witnesses.

As more and more people engage in these discussions, it gets inevitably messy and perhaps even discouraging at times. But that is precisely our work ... asking the Lord to speak, and listening.

There are so many words, so many voices, today. Learning to hear Jesus amid all that, quieting our souls in prayer, takes discipline and practice. Perhaps even more discipline and practice is needed to hear the Lord’s voice speaking through other human voices. Those voices may inspire, challenge, instruct; they can also distract, mislead, discourage. To hear the Good Shepherd takes discernment, time, the help of the Holy Spirit.

Making the effort to listen in our parishes with respect and faith can be a model for the larger culture; and if we do this well, we learn skills and make visible progress in being a community rooted in faith that itself becomes evangelization. In a divided world, that is no small part of the Church’s current work.

So today, as we remember the hope given to us by the Ascension, give your children and grandchildren a hug, teach them how to pray, and cultivate a listening heart. With such seemingly small steps, God will do remarkable things we cannot predict or control – as Mary and Joseph will attest.

“Speak, Lord, your servant is listening.” Eli taught that to Samuel, so Samuel could listen to God. What will God say to you, this week, in your prayer and also in your listening to others who give voice to the truth revealed in Jesus Christ?

Fr. Tom

STEWARDSHIP

Prayer is one of the 4 pillars of Stewardship
Are we talking about Prayer Line, or prayers at Mass? How can prayer be Stewardship? Where does it start?

- Start a "Needs List" about church, family, neighbors. Pray this list.
- Ask in prayer for guidance to understand your gifts and the needs for service.
- Ask in prayer to be attentive, ready to respond to what others need from you.
- Ask in prayer for a friend to invite to come with you, to serve.

"Lord, help me to give and to receive the encouragement that will make me to be a faithful steward of your gifts."

1 Peter 4.11b Whoever serves, let it be with the strength that God supplies, so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ.

YEAR OF ST. JOSEPH—A FATHER'S HEART

We each have an image of a good father, recognizing those characteristics even if our own experiences did not reach the ideals we hold. As a father, Joseph was a protector of his family. He found a place for Mary to give birth; he accepted relocation and exile from his home for a time to flee to Egypt as migrants; he returned home and resumed his labors as a carpenter to provide for their daily bread. Indeed, in a striking line, Pope Francis notes that "God trusted Joseph, as did Mary, who found in him someone who would not only save her life but always provide for her and her Child." We assume he went to the synagogue, no doubt bringing Jesus along; he had human Friendships with his relatives and neighbors; he did business with his customers and cared for the home he was creating for Mary, whom he deeply loved. These ordinary domestic moments are possible in every family, and like Joseph, we can live them in profound awareness that even the routines of life have Jesus at their center, Who dwells in every home as a domestic Church. In John 5:19, Jesus says: "Amen, amen, I say to you, a son cannot do anything on his own, but only what he sees his father doing; for what he does, his son will do also." While the text goes on to refer to God the Father, I believe Jesus also refers to His boyhood experience with Joseph, who showed him what he was doing – not only in the woodshop, but in all the everyday tasks and chores of life. In His divinity, Christ knows all; in His humanity, as Luke tells us, He had to learn and grow in age, grace, and favor. He learned to speak, to read, to pray, to clean His room, to study, to tell time, to care for His body – all those things that parents teach their children, Mary and Joseph taught Jesus.

What are you grateful to have learned from your father? What might Joseph wish to teach you? Fr. Tom

ST. FRANCIS XAVIER PARISH

He Ascended into Heaven

Today we as a Church celebrate the Ascension of Jesus into heaven, some 40 days after his Resurrection and we look back remembering all that he taught us, all that he sacrificed for our salvation. Jesus returns to his Father having completed the task his Father set forth, that he would suffer and die so the sins of humanity might be forgiven. God, our Father, sent his own Son to be the ultimate sacrifice, that we might live in eternal happiness.

We can only imagine what it was like for the Apostles to see Jesus ascending into heaven. We can only imagine how they were feeling and the questions that may have risen in their hearts and minds. This Teacher, this Friend, this Man who is God, now gone from their sight. And so began an era of time when our Lord would not be physically present to his people, and we continue to live that era today. As a people of God, convinced of the Truth spoken by the Son of God, we await the second coming of Jesus. Until such time Jesus promised a helper, a paraclete, the Holy Spirit, and he said to his friends and to all people, "I am with you always until the end of time."

I love those words, the promise of Jesus to always be with us. How comforting to know that wherever we are, he is there too. We will end the Easter season next week as we celebrate the coming of the Holy Spirit to the Apostles, gifting them with wisdom and knowledge and courage to continue to spread the Good News of the Risen Lord. Pentecost marks the beginning of what we know today as the Catholic Church. Jesus sent forth his Apostles to bring all people into relationship with God through him. He truly is the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

Seasons come and season go, in our faith life as well as in our everyday living. Each new season brings new possibilities and many changes. Some changes we embrace for they can bring new life and some changes are difficult as we grieve what has passed and are uncertain of what our future holds. However, as seasons and life experiences change, one thing remains, God is with us always.

I share with you today that I am retiring at the end of May and leaving my position here at St. Francis Xavier. I am so grateful to this entire faith community for the privilege of serving as your Pastoral Associate. I will always remember how I was welcomed, embraced, supported, and encouraged. I learned so much from all of you and I thank you sincerely for you have blessed my life. It was an honor to share eight years of my faith journey with you and I will remember you in prayer asking God to bless this community as you continue to live our shared faith in Jesus Christ.

Sincerely and with much gratitude,
Deb Rudolph
